

Six Town Connections

Linking our communities of Adams, Ellisburg, Henderson, Lorraine, Rodman and Worth to enhance quality of life for all

A brief history of the Six Town Community Fund

Established in 2012, the Six Town Community Fund was created as a geographic-specific fund to support projects and programs that positively impact the quality of life in the south Jefferson County region, specifically in the towns of Adams, Ellisburg, Henderson, Lorraine, Rodman and Worth.

The Northern New York Community Foundation stewards this charitable fund. To build initial support, the Foundation awarded a $50,000 challenge grant to donors interested in giving to this philanthropic resource. By the end of 2014, donors from across the six towns came together to create a $100,000 community fund. The fund will award grants to local projects in perpetuity. Contributions continue to be added to the Six Town Community Fund by donors like you. Now, families from the region can give to support the place they love and call home forever.

Save the date for Savor Six Town

Save the date Saturday, Nov. 19, for "A Taste of South Jeff — Savor Sixtown." The annual food-lovers event will take place from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Adams Fire Hall, 6 N. Main St., Adams.

Restaurants from across the Six Town region will participate, presenting their best dishes for guests to sample. South Jeff Chamber of Commerce member businesses will also partner for the event.

Admission is $15 per person. The evening will feature live music and a cash bar. Proceeds from the event will benefit, in part, the Six Town Community Fund.

A lasting legacy for Six Town

■ Mollie Bangs believed in building better communities for everyone

Lifelong Six Town resident Mollie Bangs believed in the strength of people working together to make communities stronger.

"When we share in the work, it helps more people," Mollie's daughter, Charlene Bickford, said. "My parents believed in South Jeff and a larger foundation for aiding its communities."

A native of Rodman and an Adams resident with her husband, Charlie, from 1949 until she passed away at age 95 on Sept. 5, 2015, Mollie was determined to make Adams more beautiful to all who entered the village. In the late 1990s, she led a campaign to refurbish the Conrail railroad bridge over West Church Street and have "Welcome to Adams" painted on its side to greet visitors as they entered Adams from Interstate 81 and points west.

It was little surprise to her family that, after Charlie passed away in 2010, Mollie became a founding donor to the Six Town Community Fund in 2012, leaving a generous gift to perpetuate a legacy of building better communities and enhancing the quality of life for all in the area.

"When we were kids she always believed in organizations that made good decisions as to where money goes," said Charlene, who lives in Arlington, Va. "She felt that way about the Six Town Community Fund, that it's good to have an organization that works to support the area exclusively. The support is well targeted."

Mollie left behind a caring legacy of service to a community she loved and an imprint on the Six Town area that will continue through a generous gift to the Six Town Community Fund. Through the fund and forever, when grants are made to support the communities

Lifelong Six Town resident Mollie Bangs, who died Sept. 5, 2015, left a lasting legacy for her communities.

Mollie loved so very much, it will have the legacy of her civic spirit attached to it.

"Both my parents bought into the concept of everybody working together to help as opposed to individual groups. It's a unified way of looking at things," Charlene said. "My sister and I have made decisions as to where people contribute. Our parents worked hard. They were both tireless advocates for the village of Adams and the school system."

Charlene said her parents believed very much in the community to get together and concentrate its efforts on the whole area and not having each individual community try to do the same thing and compete with each other to do so.

"I hope that more people contribute to the fund so that more good things can happen," Charlene said.

Community Fund / Grants in action

South Jefferson Central Schools / $1,300

The school has provided an adventure education program since the early 1990s. Six years ago, a capital project included the construction of an outdoor adventure course on land behind the Clarke Middle/High School. The program has operated with minimal resources in recent years due to school budget cuts; however, there has been interest from some community organizations about utilizing the site. Grant funding will be exercised to offer advanced training, so more facilitators could lead organizations through the course, making it available for multi-purpose use.

Rohde Center / $1,000

This agency has been serving Southern Jefferson County as an emergency food pantry for close to 40 years. The organization operates three food-related programs and collaborates with the Food Bank of Central New York. The center is concentrating on ensuring its sustainability and developing quarterly fundraising events to assist with monthly costs and providing optimal food access to those in need. This grant was put toward costs associated with coordinating a community race/walk this spring. Funding was used for basic race set-up, race day timing and supplies.

Adams Revitalization Committee / $600

This committee has played an integral role in key community events, and last year presented the Adams Community Concert Series. The goal was to provide an array of quality music and entertainment to the Six Town region. Taking place in the summer, the series was attended by residents from local and surrounding communities. Funding would be utilized as a major resource in offering the concert series next summer, covering the costs for musicians and outreach. The 2016 concert series was a great success thanks to the generous grant. Concert attendance grew with each event.

South Jefferson Rescue Squad / $600

The rescue squad has been a volunteer ambulance service since 1969. Its operating territory covers the majority of Southern Jefferson County and responds to an average of more than 800 calls each year. The agency continues construction of its five-bay garage project. The squad is entering phase two, which includes remodeling an area to provide community training programs. Grant funding was awarded to assist with the renovations of rooms for community programs.

Town of Lorraine / $500

The town submitted a request to renovate signage paying tribute to community residents who served in the armed forces. A wooden sign located in the town's rural cemetery and displaying the local names deteriorated over a number of years. Grant funding helped produce a new sign made out of lasting materials that recognizes local residents who have devoted their lives to the military across several eras.

Harbor View Housing Development Fund Company, Inc. / $500

This company is affiliated with the Henderson School Apartments-Tenants Organization, and Christopher Community, Inc. — a non-profit organization in Syracuse. Henderson School apartments are located on Harborview Drive in Henderson. There are 23 full-sized, one-bedroom apartments providing adequate living space for individuals and couples. The organization does conduct grassroots fundraising to purchase school and back pack program supplies for students at Belleville Henderson Central School. Grant funding was exercised for the purchase of a large, HD television. The TV is used for programming presented by the Office of the Aging, AARP and other activities for apartment residents.

Henderson Free Library / $500

The library's mission is to promote literacy and reading in all forms to every community member. The organization supplies an assortment of print media, as well as audio, electronic books and DVDs. To expand its mission, the library will be developing an outdoor area and classroom. Officials plan to create a sitting area outside for programming and public use. The project will take several years to complete and will be in collaboration with the local fire department, garden club, highway department and other volunteers. Funding will assist with initial cost of site development.
